• The numbers are represented by the fingers and toes, the latter on one foot only, and there are no numbers above 15. Twenty is the two hands and both feet banched together, but there are no words for the separate trees of the left foot. There is no notation, the words are simply the names given to the fingers and toes, starting with the little finger of the right hand and ending with the small toe of the right foot. Twenty is properly a lot of things (see the words " many," also " we ").
